“Born Again” vigilantism: Daredevil returns to political change on Disney+

The world needs heroes. Whether that means saving kittens from a burning building or working a double shift to put food on the table for your family, heroism looks different to everyone. But when it comes to superheroes — a genre beloved by people of all ages the world over — few do double duty better than Daredevil.

First introduced to the Marvel Universe by Stan Lee in April 1964, the blind, red-clad vigilante has been fighting crime day and night in books, in film and on television ever since. Now, six and a half years after the Netflix series “Daredevil” ended, the Disney-owned Marvel Cinematic Universe launches a brand-new installment. “Daredevil: Born Again” premieres Tuesday, March 4, on Disney+.

Reappearing at a time when many need him the most, Daredevil, a.k.a. Matt Murdock (Charlie Cox, “The Theory of Everything,” 2014), is back in action after “a line was crossed,” leaving him little choice but to take a necessary hiatus from vigilante crime fighting. While those familiar with Netflix’s “Daredevil” may remember the incident alluded to in the “Born Again” trailer, let’s just say — for the sake of providing some context while avoiding gratuitous spoilers — that the masked man of the people may have let his impulse get the better of him, leading to unnecessary brutality and, quite possibly, the death of an innocent or two.

One thing that is clear from the “Born Again” trailer regardless of the viewer’s level of context, however, is that Murdock is inextricably linked to Wilson Fisk, a.k.a. Kingpin (Vincent D’Onofrio, “Full Metal Jacket,” 1987), who is now the mayor of New York City, for better or for worse. While he insists he is “serving his city,” Fisk is known for strong-arming his way into deals, pressuring his opponents into submission and eliminating his problems through less-than-legal means. Now that Kingpin is more powerful than ever, Murdock is likely to have plenty of work on his plate — either at his day job as a criminal attorney or as his highly tuned, nocturnal counterpart. Either way, “Daredevil: Born Again” is slated to feature oodles of violence and rumored to bring about a few highly anticipated “fixes” to the 2015-18 Netflix series.

“The earlier show, at its best, was fantastic,” showrunner Dario Scardapane (“The Punisher”) told SFX Magazine. “At its worst, it was two characters in a room talking about what a hero is.”

As for how “Born Again” compares to Netflix’s series on a stylistic level, Scardapane says the new series is “more New York crime story” than “noir.”

“It has elements of ‘The Sopranos’ and ‘King Of New York’ [1990]. ... They were very dark, cinematically, not necessarily story-wise, although there were some dark elements.”

He then added, “We’re much darker.”

“Daredevil: Born Again” co-stars Wilson Bethel (“Hart of Dixie”), Jon Bernthal (“The Bear”), Elden Henson (“Idle Hands,” 1999), Deborah Ann Woll (“True Blood”) and Genneya Walton (“Candy Cane Lane,” 2023).

Catch the premiere Tuesday, March 4, on Disney+.

“The Electric State” (Netflix — March 14, Movie Premiere)

This adventure film stars Millie Bobby Brown as Michelle, an orphaned teenager navigating life in a society where sentient robots resembling cartoons and mascots, who once served peacefully among humans, now live in exile following a failed uprising. Everything Michelle thinks she knows about the world is upended one night when she’s visited by Cosmo, a sweet, mysterious robot who appears to be controlled by Christopher — Michelle’s genius younger brother whom she thought was dead. With smuggler Keats, his robot sidekick, Herman (Anthony Mackie) and Cosmo, Michelle sets out across the American southwest, determined to find her brother.

The STREAM Scene

Where all the top choices can be found in one place!

“Nine Bodies in a Mexican Morgue” (March 2)

In this thriller series with a jaw-dropping reveal waiting at the end, a light aircraft with nine passengers crashes in the Mexican jungle — and everyone survives. But then, one after another, they begin to die in strange and violent ways and very soon they begin to realize that, for some inexplicable reason, somebody wants them dead.

The 97th Academy Awards (March 2)

Hosted this year by comedian and television mainstay Conan O'Brien (“Conan Without Borders”), the celebration takes place at the Dolby Theatre in Los Angeles. As the academy recognizes talent from all aspects of the film industry — from actors and directors to composers, costumers, makeup artists and more — the night features a number of special guests and performances.

“The Leopard” (March 5)

Based on what many consider to be one of the greatest Italian novels of all time, this series is a dazzlingly sensuous epic, set against the backdrop of revolution in 1860s Sicily. At its heart is Don Fabrizio Corbera (Kim Rossi Stuart), the Prince of Salina, who leads a life surrounded by beauty and privilege. But as Italy moves towards unification and the old aristocratic order is threatened, he realizes that his family's future is in jeopardy. New allegiances must be made, each one a threat to his principles.

“My Best Friend's An Animal” - Season 1 (Available Now)

This emotive, heart-warming series tells the stories of humans who have unlikely, extraordinary friendships with wild animals. Featuring six compelling stories per episode and filmed all over the world, the series proves that when it comes to friendship, shape, size, or even species is irrelevant. Respect, trust, and understanding can be found in the most surprising places.
